

Preview your presentation as a slide show

Preview your presentation as a slide show

To view your presentation on your computer screen exactly the way that it will look to your audience when you are presenting, do the following:

On the Slide Show tab, in the Start Slide Show group, do one of the following:

To start with the first slide in the presentation, click From Beginning.

To start with the slide that currently appears in the Slide pane, click From Current Slide.

The presentation opens in Slide Show view.

Click to advance to the next slide.

Tip To return to Normal view at any time, press ESC.

Of course, you can also preview your presentation at any time while you are creating it.

EXAMPLE 1-1

To view your presentation on your computer screen exactly the way that it will look to your audience

when you are presenting, do the following:

On the Slide Show tab, in the Start Slide Show group, do one of the following:

To start with the first slide in the presentation, click From Beginning.

To start with the slide that currently appears in the Slide pane, click From Current Slide.

The presentation opens in Slide Show view.

Click to advance to the next slide.

Tip To return to Normal view at any time, press ESC.

Of course, you can also preview your presentation at any time while you are creating it.